m a Prussian village or city, have it burned down-L Berlin, if it does not behave well. The cavalry is apidly trained in France, but we need the whole I yet.

(To Prince Eugene.) I can't see why you gave lin. Your movements are so hasty that you have ;n able to take up the line of march assigned to ou might have gained us three weeks, which would ;en of the greatest advantage in both the political 5 military sense.

This is a most alarming state of things! What are > muskets? Almost nothing; we need 300,000 to 5 levy of 1815, and to have a reserve of 150,000 in

(To Prince Eugene.) It is time we began to far. Our military operations are ridiculed by our t Vienna and by our enemies in London and St. urg, because our army consistently retreats a week ;he approach of the enemy's infantry, at the sight light-horse, or even on mere rumours.

(To Prince Eugene.) My Son: I inclose you)urg bulletin of the 12th from which you will see) Cossacks are going to take possession of the whole 12d military district. A number of gunboats have nk; it means a loss of many millions; it will mean ;tion in all that lies at the back of the Elbe. It all rom the fact that from the left bank of the river re no longer any hold on the enemy.

I have news from Breslau the 12th. The Prus-ere arming but still kept up appearances, and my r was being treated with all due regard.
